

THE SORRY FOR SELF ISSUE

As I look back on this issue, I see that I am sorry for myself: 1. because I don't earn a living, and 2. because I feel neglected by women. These feelings are reinforced by the devil who provides ample evidence on these issues. Yet I serve the Lord and wait for Him to deliver me from these perceived problems. The men of my Bible Study have really stood by me as I've suffered through all this. They've provided tangible love when I could not love myself. For that I am thankful. I believe God is working powerfully through us as we band together and form community. Leaving Wyoming type plans behind, I see that God has better plans for us. It is very exciting to know that God has taken a special interest in us, that He will show us what He made us for. It is scary at the same time. Will my sin spoil the mix? Enough hypothesis. This is just what I think Jesus is doing in our lives, the lives of my community. More on that as it unfolds. Stay tooned!

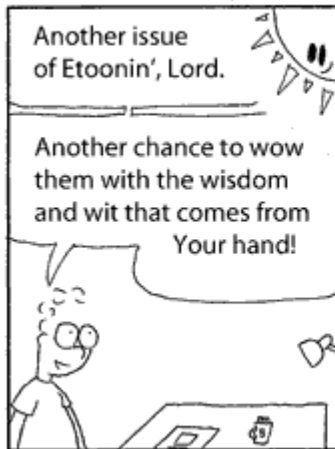

Today marks the 5th month of daily cartooning (with the exception of a 2 week vacation). A cartoon of mine was published in a friend's insurance agency newsletter. If you need a cartoon for your publication, or know of someone who might, please pass my name along. I can draw cartoons custom fit for any situation. Thanks for reading! Love, Jim Bures
